Dear [REDACTED]

STAT

I was very honored to be selected by the Student Governments of [REDACTED] College and [REDACTED] University to attend the Thirteenth Annual Student Symposium at the Hyatt Regency Hotel in Washington, D.C. the weekend of March 12-14, 1982. The conference proved to be a very stimulating and enriching experience and I thank you for allowing me to participate.

STAT

I am a senior at [REDACTED] College majoring in political science and sociology and I found it especially rewarding to discuss the separation of powers and the power to govern, particularly as it relates to current political and economic affairs. William Casey, Director of the Central Intelligence Agency, and Senator John Tower offered an interesting overview and discussion of these issues and their willingness to address the students' questions was certainly a high point of the weekend and greatly appreciated.

STAT

I also enjoyed the opportunity to meet with and exchange ideas with students from around the country and Canada, who share my particular interests in government and politics. The series of high-ranking political officials and representatives from the media aroused several insights into the economic and political positions of our current administration.

I would have enjoyed questioning these guests for a greater length of time because I feel it was a perfect opportunity for students to both challenge and learn from these prominent individuals. Perhaps the Center might consider allocating some extra time as well for students to gather as a group with an assigned mediator, to discuss current issues and problems, particularly those which concern college and graduate students.

Now that I have returned to [REDACTED] I am planning to meet with the heads of our governing associations to share with them my experiences and to recommend that they seriously consider sending a greater number of representatives to the next Symposium sponsored by The Center For The Study Of The Presidency.

STAT

I am currently in the process of applying to law schools as I complete by final semester at [REDACTED]. I have already been accepted to three law schools and I plan to introduce the school I will eventually attend, to your Center and to the importance of student participation in this type of workshop.

[redacted] I would like to apply to you
[redacted] for consideration in being selected as Center Fellow for the 1982-83 year. I have been extremely active in the [redacted]
Governing Association, serving as Student Advisor to 45 students as well as chairing several committees including the Joint Judicial Board and Election Board. In addition, I was one of only two students selected to serve as Fellow on the [redacted]
Planning Committee which set forth the goals of the school as [redacted] establishes a consolidated University network.
I was recently honored a scholarship for my "outstanding achievements" [redacted] I believe the knowledge I have gained from these experiences will allow me to contribute to The Center For The Study Of The Presidency in an equal fashion. More importantly,
I share the deep interest in Government and Politics that the Center embraces and fosters.

I anticipate being selected Center Fellow and look forward to participating in the planning of future Student Symposiums.
Again, thank you for this opportunity to participate and I wish you continued success in your endeavors.

Sincerely,

[redacted]

P.S. Through the Office of Career Development [redacted]
I will be authorizing the release of two letters of recommendation on my behalf, sent to your attention for review.
